This collection covers seven programme providers, with questions grouped by programme category and practical information. Each set addresses its listed programmes without assuming identical entry, delivery or commercial terms. The GAU and RBS sections also explain general US/UK immigration requirements. Exact award acceptance and individual eligibility must be assessed for the intended purpose.

Rushford Business School (RBS)

4 category sets + practical guide + immigration clarification - BBA | MBA | MSc | Doctoral | 36 FAQs | 41 programmes covered

About: Rushford Business School offers business and management study through its online learning division, which the school describes as eduQwa-certified. Programme availability, entry conditions and award arrangements depend on the selected route.

Category 1 - Undergraduate (BBA) Programmes

Applies to all 7 BBA programmes: Business Administration, Marketing, Finance, Human Resource Management, Management Information Systems, Hospitality & Tourism Management, Project Management.

General Information

Q. What BBA specialisations does Rushford Business School offer?

Maverick's supplied Rushford BBA portfolio lists seven subject options:

- Business Administration
- Marketing
- Finance
- Human Resource Management
- Management Information Systems
- Hospitality & Tourism Management
- Project Management

Confirm current availability, delivery mode, awarding arrangements, credit value and duration for your chosen programme before enrolling. The subject list does not mean that every route has the same timetable or entry conditions.

Q. Are Rushford BBA programmes taught fully online?

The current delivery format needs to be confirmed for your chosen BBA programme. Before enrolling, ask whether teaching is online or blended, whether live attendance is required, and how assessments are completed. This helps you check that the actual study arrangements fit your working hours and other commitments.

Q. Is Rushford Business School a recognised institution?

Rushford describes its online learning division as eduQwa-certified. eduQwa is a quality label for continuing education providers; it does not accredit individual degrees. Acceptance for employment or further study depends on the exact award and the receiving organisation's requirements. Check those requirements before choosing a programme for a specific professional or academic purpose.

Eligibility & Admission

Q. What are the entry requirements for Rushford BBA programmes?

BBA entry normally starts with completed upper-secondary education or an accepted equivalent. The qualification, grades, subject preparation and English evidence required must be checked against the current programme specification. Share your certificates and transcripts with admissions for an individual eligibility review before making a study commitment.

Q. Do I need an English proficiency test to join a BBA programme?

English-language entry requirements depend on the BBA route. Ask admissions which tests and minimum scores are accepted, and whether previous English-medium education can be considered instead. Do not assume a waiver is automatic or book a test before checking the current requirements for your intended intake.

Fees, Scholarships & PaymentsQ. How does the fee structure work for the BBA programmes?

Request a written fee quotation for your chosen BBA programme and intake. It should identify the billing currency, tuition and any registration, assessment or other charges. Ask whether instalments or scholarships are available and, if so, what conditions apply. Compare the total payable under each option before accepting an offer.

Careers & OutcomesQ. What career opportunities can a BBA from Rushford lead to?

The BBA prepares you for entry-level and early-management roles across core business functions - administration, marketing, finance, people management, information systems, hospitality and project delivery - depending on your chosen specialisation. You graduate with a practical business skill set that applies across industries worldwide.

Q. Can I progress to a master's degree after completing the BBA?

A completed BBA can support an application to MBA, MSc or other postgraduate study, but progression is not automatic. The receiving institution assesses the awarding body, qualification level, academic results and any subject or experience requirements. If further study is your goal, check the intended master's entry criteria before choosing your undergraduate route.

Category 2 - Postgraduate MBA Programmes

Applies to all 12 MBA programmes: Sustainability, Energy and Environment · Strategic Management · Real Estate Management · Human Resource Management · Marketing · Logistics & Supply Chain Management · Healthcare Leadership · Hospitality & Tourism Management · Health Economics · Entrepreneurship and Innovation · Finance · Master of Business Administration (MBA).

General InformationQ. Which MBA specialisations are available at Rushford Business School?

The supplied portfolio contains twelve MBA options: a general MBA and eleven specialised tracks. These cover strategy, finance, marketing, human resources, logistics and supply chain, healthcare leadership, entrepreneurship and innovation, sustainability, real estate, hospitality and tourism, and health economics.

Rushford publishes online MBA routes, but duration, credits and any additional awards vary by route. Confirm the current specification for your chosen programme; an extra Level 7 diploma should not be assumed to accompany every MBA.

Q. Can I complete the Rushford MBA while working full-time?

Rushford's online MBA delivery can support study alongside a full-time job. Flexible access to learning materials does not remove assessment deadlines or the need for regular study. Check the expected weekly workload, any live sessions and the assessment calendar for your chosen route before planning how to combine work and study.

Q. How long does the Rushford MBA take to complete?

Rushford MBA duration and credits vary by route. The current online catalogue lists the general MBA at 12 months and 60 ECTS, while the listed specialised MBA routes are 16 months and 90 ECTS. Confirm the route in your offer and its completion requirements; one duration should not be applied to every MBA option.

Eligibility & Admission

Q. What are the entry requirements for the Rushford MBA?

MBA applicants are normally assessed on a bachelor's degree or accepted equivalent, together with any relevant professional background and English-language evidence. Alternative experience-based entry may be available on particular routes, but is not an automatic waiver. Ask for the current programme-specific requirements and an individual assessment of your qualifications.

Q. Do I need GMAT or GRE scores to apply for the MBA?

Check the admission-test policy for your selected MBA route before booking GMAT or GRE. A test not appearing in a general programme description is not, by itself, a confirmed exemption across all MBA tracks. Admissions should confirm the current academic, professional and English-language evidence required for your application.

Fees, Scholarships & Payments

Q. What is the fee structure for the MBA programmes?

MBA fees depend on the programme and intake in your offer. Ask for the tuition total, billing currency and any additional charges, plus the full cost of any available instalment plan. Scholarship or fee-support offers need separate eligibility and terms; neither a reduction nor a payment plan should be assumed before confirmation.

Careers & Outcomes

Q. What career outcomes can I expect after the Rushford MBA?

A Rushford MBA can help you develop management, analytical and leadership skills relevant to your specialisation. These may support applications in strategy, finance, marketing, operations, healthcare or other business functions, as well as entrepreneurial work. A qualification alone does not secure a senior role: experience, demonstrated capability and each employer's criteria also matter.

Q. Can the MBA lead to doctoral study later?

An MBA can support an application to doctoral study, including a DBA, subject to the receiving programme's academic and research requirements. Admission may also depend on professional experience, research fit and the status of the completed award. Check the specific doctoral route rather than assuming that every MBA automatically meets its entry criteria.

Category 3 - Postgraduate MSc Programmes

Applies to all 9 MSc programmes: Sustainability and Environmental Management · Strategic Management · Operations and Supply Chain Management · International Business Management · Marketing · Entrepreneurship & Innovation · Finance and Investment · Economics · Business Management.

General Information

Q. Which MSc programmes does Rushford Business School offer?

Rushford offers nine MSc programmes, delivered fully online in English: Business Management, Strategic Management, International Business Management, Marketing, Finance and Investment, Economics, Operations and Supply Chain Management, Entrepreneurship & Innovation, and Sustainability and Environmental Management.

Q. What is the difference between an MBA and an MSc at Rushford?

An MBA generally emphasises management and leadership across business functions, while an MSc develops more focused subject expertise. Some MBA tracks also specialise, so compare the actual curriculum rather than the degree title alone. The best fit depends on the skills you want to develop and the entry requirements you meet.

Feature	MBA	MSc
Typical emphasis	Broad management with possible specialisation	Focused academic or professional subject study
Potential applications	Cross-functional management and leadership	Specialist, analytical or research-informed work
Published core routes	60 or 90 ECTS, depending on route	Commonly 60 ECTS; confirm any enhanced route separately

Q. How long does a Rushford MSc take to complete?

Rushford's current online MSc catalogue lists 12-month, 60 ECTS programmes. Any longer route, additional credits, thesis or capstone requirement must be confirmed for your chosen specialisation and intake. Do not assume the same set of extended study options is available across all MSc programmes.

Eligibility & Admission

Q. What do I need to be eligible for an MSc programme?

A bachelor's degree or accepted equivalent is the usual starting point for MSc entry. Required grades, subject preparation and English-language evidence vary by programme; relevant work or research experience may be considered during an individual review. Ask admissions to assess your documents against the current criteria for your chosen subject.

Fees, Scholarships & Payments

Q. How are MSc fees structured, and are scholarships available?

Obtain the fee quotation for the exact MSc route you intend to take. Credit volume, research components and payment arrangements can affect the total. Ask whether instalments or scholarships are offered for your intake, how eligibility is assessed, and which fees are included. Only the written offer should be used for budgeting.

Careers & Outcomes

Q. What career paths does an MSc from Rushford support?

An MSc positions you as a specialist in your field - supporting roles such as analyst, manager and consultant in areas like finance, marketing, operations, sustainability and international business. It also provides a strong academic foundation for progression to doctoral study (PhD/DBA), subject to admission criteria.

Category 4 - Doctoral Research Programmes (PhD / DBA / EPD)

Applies to all 13 research specialisations: Supply Chain Management · Quality Management · Operational Management · Marketing · Human Resource Management · Healthcare Management · International Business · Financial Management · Educational Management & Leadership · Data Analytics · Hospitality, Travel, & Tourism · Logistics & Supply Chain Management · Global Leadership & Strategy.

General Information

Q. What doctoral options does Rushford Business School offer?

Rushford publishes DBA programmes and route-dependent PhD award options. The supplied portfolio groups thirteen research themes under PhD, DBA and EPD labels, but those labels are not interchangeable. Confirm the available research area, exact award title, awarding arrangements and your eligibility before applying; EPD availability and terminology still require programme-specific confirmation.

Q. What is the difference between a PhD and a DBA?

A PhD focuses on original academic research and suits those targeting scholarly or research careers. A DBA applies doctoral-level research to real business problems, making it ideal for senior professionals and business leaders who want to research within their own industry context. Both are rigorous doctoral qualifications - they differ in orientation, not in level.

	PhD	DBA
Orientation	Original academic research	Applied business research
Ideal for	Academic and research careers	Senior professionals and leaders
Outcome focus	Contribution to theory	Real-world business solutions

Q. How long does a Rushford doctoral programme take?

Rushford's published DBA catalogue uses 36 months as a nominal duration. Actual completion depends on the approved pathway, research progress and assessment requirements. This is a planning duration, not evidence that every candidate finishes within three years. Confirm the minimum and maximum registration periods for the specific doctoral award you intend to pursue.

Q. Are the doctoral programmes fully online?

Rushford publishes fully online DBA routes, allowing research study to be combined with professional commitments. Delivery, supervision, attendance and assessment rules must still be checked for your selected award. The availability of an online DBA does not establish that every PhD or EPD route uses identical arrangements.

Eligibility & Admission

Q. What are the entry requirements for the doctoral programmes?

Doctoral entry depends on the award route, academic background and research readiness. A relevant master's degree is a common entry route. Some DBA programmes also consider a bachelor's degree with substantial professional experience through recognition of prior experience. Such admission does not automatically establish eligibility for a PhD award. Confirm the required qualifications and experience for the chosen route.

Q. What English proficiency evidence do doctoral applicants need?

Use the English-language requirements for your selected doctoral route. Evidence may include an accepted language test or, where permitted, confirmation of previous English-medium study. Minimum scores, accepted documents and waiver conditions can change; ask admissions to confirm the current checklist instead of relying on a single score quoted for the whole doctoral portfolio.

Fees, Scholarships & Payments

Q. How are doctoral programme fees structured?

Doctoral fees and payment arrangements are specific to your offer. Request a breakdown of tuition, supervision or assessment charges where applicable, the payment schedule, and any costs associated with extended registration. Ask separately about available funding. This is particularly important when research takes longer than the nominal programme duration.

Careers & Outcomes

Q. What can I do with a doctorate from Rushford Business School?

Doctoral study can develop advanced research, analysis and evidence-based decision-making skills relevant to consulting, leadership, policy or academic work. Opportunities depend on your research, experience, publications and the requirements of the receiving organisation. Completing a doctorate does not itself guarantee publication, a teaching position or professional standing in every setting.

Applying & Practical Information

Practical information to check before applying.

Q. How do I apply for a Rushford Business School programme?

Begin with an eligibility and programme-fit review, then follow the current application instructions for the route you choose:

1. Prepare your qualifications and supporting documents.
2. Complete the application and submit the required evidence.
3. Wait for the admissions decision and review any conditions.
4. If offered a place, confirm the award, intake and fees before accepting.

Applying does not guarantee admission. Maverick can clarify the application route that applies to its offer.

Q. What documents do I need to apply?

Rushford's current admissions checklist includes identity evidence, a passport-size photograph, qualification certificates and academic transcripts. A CV, personal statement, English-language evidence or work-experience documents may also be relevant, depending on the route and your profile. Check the final programme-specific checklist and submit clear, complete copies through the authorised application channel.

Q. Are online degrees taken seriously by employers?

Employer acceptance depends on the exact qualification and the employer's requirements, not on delivery mode alone. Check the awarding institution, course content and any professional requirements relevant to your goal. Credits describe study volume; they do not establish automatic equivalence or employer acceptance. Rushford's provider-level quality certification should not be presented as accreditation of every degree.

Q. When can I start my programme?

Rushford's current admissions site lists multiple intake windows, but the start date and application deadline must be confirmed for the programme in your offer. Ask how long document checks and registration may take, and plan around the confirmed dates. Do not assume every listed subject or award opens at each intake.

Q. What happens if I need more time to finish?

Contact the academic team before your registration or assessment deadline to ask about an extension or interruption of study. Approval, maximum study periods and any additional fees depend on the programme and your offer. There is no confirmed provider-wide three-year, fee-free extension policy, so obtain the applicable terms in writing before relying on extra time.

Immigration & Visa Eligibility

Q. Does completing a Rushford Business School programme make me eligible to migrate to the US or UK?

No, not from programme completion alone. A Rushford qualification does not itself establish eligibility for a US or UK visa or permanent residence. Graduates may qualify through a separate route if they meet all its requirements. Where academic evidence is required, acceptance of the exact award must be established; provider certification or a partner award is not immigration approval.

The UK Graduate route requires eligible study, the relevant Student permission and compliance with UK-study requirements. US Optional Practical Training (OPT) is linked to F-1 status and qualifying study. An overseas or online programme alone does not establish entitlement to either post-study work option. Work and permanent-residence routes have separate requirements, which may include qualifying employment, accepted qualifications or other prescribed evidence.

If migration is your goal, seek appropriately qualified immigration advice on your individual circumstances and the current rules before choosing a programme.

Immigration and residency decisions rest solely with the relevant authorities. This information is general guidance, not immigration advice.

Fee amounts, scholarships and entry requirements are confirmed individually during the admissions eligibility review and may change without notice.

Girne American University (GAU)

5 category sets + practical guide + immigration clarification - BSc | MBA | EMBA | Thesis-based master's | PhD | 38 FAQs | 43 programmes covered

About: Girne American University offers undergraduate, postgraduate and research study across several disciplines. Its public accreditation information identifies specific accredited business programmes; coverage must be checked for the chosen award.

Category 1 - BSc Programmes

Applies to all 10 BSc programmes: Business Management · Tourism and Hospitality Management · International Business Management · Psychology · Accounting and Finance Management · Marketing · Human Resources Management · Accounting · Economics · Management Information Systems.

General Information

Q. Which BSc programmes are available at Girne American University?

The supplied GAU undergraduate portfolio lists ten BSc subject options: Business Management, International Business Management, Marketing, Accounting, Accounting and Finance Management, Economics, Human Resources Management, Management Information Systems, Tourism and Hospitality Management, and Psychology. Confirm the current award title, availability, teaching language and route for the subject you choose.

Q. Is a BSc degree from Girne American University recognised?

GAU publishes institutional recognition information and IACBE accreditation for named business programmes. That programme-level scope should not be extended to every BSc subject or partner-delivered route. Check the exact award, current accreditation scope and any requirements of your intended employer, professional body or receiving university before relying on recognition for a particular purpose.

Q. Can I study a GAU BSc flexibly while working?

This depends on the delivery route and attendance requirements of your chosen BSc. Ask whether the offer is online, blended or campus-based, how live sessions are scheduled, and when assessments take place. Flexible-study information for one business programme should not be assumed to apply to every undergraduate subject.

Q. How are students assessed on the BSc programmes?

Assessment methods depend on the subject and programme specification. They may include assignments, examinations, projects or other assessed work. Obtain the assessment breakdown, submission calendar and any supervised-attendance requirements for your route; this is more useful for planning than assuming that every BSc follows one business programme's assessment pattern.

Eligibility & Admission

Q. What are the entry requirements for the BSc programmes?

BSc entry normally requires a completed upper-secondary qualification or an accepted equivalent. Subject preparation, minimum grades and English-language requirements may also apply. Submit your certificates and transcripts so the admissions team can assess your academic profile against the current criteria for your chosen programme.

Q. Do I need IELTS or TOEFL to join a BSc programme?

Programmes are taught in English, so evidence of English proficiency is required - but a formal test certificate is not the only route. Recognised scores are accepted, and an alternative English assessment arranged through the university may be available if you don't hold one. The admissions team will confirm the simplest route for your profile.

Fees, Scholarships & Payments

Q. How do BSc fees and scholarships work?

BSc fees and any scholarship are confirmed for the selected programme and intake. Ask for the billing currency, total cost, any registration or assessment charges and the terms of available payment plans. Scholarship eligibility, amount and deadlines need written confirmation; an enquiry or early application does not secure a funding award.

Careers & Outcomes

Q. What can I do after completing a GAU BSc?

A GAU BSc can support early-career and further-study opportunities aligned with your subject, including business, finance, hospitality, information systems or psychology-related work. Postgraduate admission depends on the receiving programme's criteria. Regulated professional roles may require separate licensing or training; the undergraduate degree alone should not be presented as permission to practise.

Category 2 - MBA Programmes

Applies to all 6 MBA programmes: Business Management · Financial Management · International Business Management · Management Information Systems · Marketing · Data Science/Analytics Management.

General Information

Q. Which MBA specialisations does Girne American University offer?

The supplied GAU portfolio lists six MBA options: Business Management, Financial Management, International Business Management, Marketing, Management Information Systems, and Data Science/Analytics Management. Confirm which options are open for your intake, together with their exact award titles, delivery arrangements and entry requirements.

Q. How long does the GAU MBA take to complete?

The GAU MBA timeline depends on the route, study load and assessment requirements. Ask for the scheduled duration and maximum registration period for the specific offer, including whether it contains a thesis or project. A duration advertised by another partner is not sufficient evidence that the same timetable applies to Maverick's route.

Q. Can I do the GAU MBA without pausing my career?

It may be possible if the programme's timetable fits your professional commitments. Before enrolling, check the delivery mode, compulsory attendance, assessment dates and weekly study expectations for the MBA route. Ask how much schedule flexibility is actually available rather than assuming that every MBA can be completed around a full-time role.

Eligibility & Admission

Q. What are the entry requirements for the GAU MBA?

MBA entry normally involves a bachelor's degree or accepted equivalent, with English-language evidence and any subject or professional requirements assessed for the selected route. Minimum grades, test requirements and alternative entry are not necessarily identical across programmes. Submit your academic documents for an individual review against the current admission criteria.

Fees, Scholarships & Payments

Q. What is the fee structure for the MBA?

Request the current MBA fee schedule before accepting an offer. It should show the total tuition, currency and any separate registration or assessment charges. If instalments or scholarships are offered, check the eligibility conditions, payment dates and total payable. A payment model from another programme should not be assumed to apply.

Careers & Outcomes

Q. What career outcomes can the GAU MBA support?

The MBA prepares you for management and senior-professional roles aligned with your specialisation - from business leadership, financial management and marketing strategy to information systems and data-driven decision-making roles. It also provides a master's-level foundation for doctoral study, subject to admission criteria.

Category 3 - Executive MBA (EMBA) Programmes

Applies to all 16 EMBA programmes: Educational Leadership · Media & Entertainment · Global Banking & Finance · Health & Safety Leadership · Renewable Energy & Sustainability · Tourism & Hospitality Management · Innovation & Entrepreneurship · Project Management · Human Resources Management · Supply Chain Management · Health Care Management · Engineering Management · Public Administration · Public Health · Digital Marketing · Sport Management.

General Information

Q. Which Executive MBA specialisations does GAU offer?

The supplied portfolio lists sixteen Executive MBA specialisations, spanning education, media, banking, health and safety, sustainability, tourism, entrepreneurship, projects, human resources, supply chain, healthcare, engineering, public administration, public health, digital marketing and sport. Confirm the exact award title and current availability of your preferred track before applying.

Q. What is the difference between an MBA and an Executive MBA?

An MBA builds broad management capability and suits professionals at earlier or mid-career stages. An Executive MBA (EMBA) is designed for experienced professionals and leaders - it assumes workplace maturity and focuses on strategic, sector-specific leadership. Both are master's-level qualifications; the right choice depends on your experience level and career stage, and the admissions team can help you decide.

	MBA	Executive MBA
Career stage	Early to mid-career	Experienced professionals and leaders
Focus	Broad management capability	Strategic, sector-specific leadership
Assumes	Building experience	Workplace seniority

Q. Can I complete the EMBA while working full-time?

An Executive MBA is generally aimed at experienced working professionals, but the actual timetable determines whether full-time work is practical. Check the selected route's teaching mode, attendance requirements, assessment workload and session times. Do not assume that an executive title means self-paced study or no compulsory attendance.

Eligibility & Admission

Q. What are the entry requirements for the EMBA?

You need a recognised bachelor's degree, and your professional experience forms a key part of your application - the EMBA is aimed at candidates with meaningful workplace responsibility. Eligibility is confirmed individually through an admissions review of your academic and professional profile, along with English proficiency evidence or an applicable alternative assessment.

Fees, Scholarships & Payments

Q. How are EMBA fees structured?

EMBA fees are specific to the track and intake in your offer. Obtain a full written breakdown, including the currency and any additional academic charges. Ask whether instalments or fee support are available and check their terms before planning a budget around them. The same payment structure is not confirmed across all tracks.

Careers & Outcomes

Q. What impact can the EMBA have on my career?

An EMBA can help experienced professionals develop strategic judgement, management knowledge and leadership skills relevant to their sector. It may support a promotion case or a move into broader responsibilities, but outcomes also depend on experience, performance and employer requirements. The qualification does not automatically confer seniority or professional authority.

Category 4 - Thesis-based Master's Programmes

Covers the 4 supplied thesis-based master's subjects: Business Management · Economics · Healthcare Management · Counselling Psychology.

General Information

Q. Which thesis-based master's programmes are listed for GAU?

The supplied portfolio groups four thesis-based master's subjects: Business Management, Economics, Healthcare Management and Counselling Psychology. Confirm the exact award title and thesis route for each intake. GAU's public catalogue uses different master's titles across subjects, so these options should not all be assumed to lead to an identically titled MSc.

Q. What does "MSc with Thesis" actually mean?

An MSc with a thesis includes a supervised research project alongside taught study. Students normally develop a research question, choose appropriate methods and present a critical written investigation. It can provide useful preparation for research-focused work or doctoral applications, but the amount and form of research depend on the programme; it is not automatically better than every taught master's.

Q. Who should choose the thesis-based MSc route?

Choose the thesis route if you want to specialise deeply, build genuine research capability, or keep the door open to a PhD. It suits aspiring researchers, analysts, academics and professionals whose fields value evidence-based expertise - such as healthcare management, economics and counselling psychology.

Eligibility & Admission

Q. What do I need to be eligible for a thesis-based MSc?

A recognised bachelor's degree is required, plus evidence of English proficiency (recognised scores or an alternative assessment where available). Some programmes may consider your academic background relative to the chosen field. Final eligibility is confirmed through an individual admissions review.

Fees, Scholarships & Payments

Q. What do the thesis-based MSc programmes cost, and is scholarship support available?

Ask for the fee schedule covering both taught study and the research stage. Check whether supervision, assessment and extended registration create separate charges, and confirm the billing currency. Any scholarship or instalment plan needs offer-specific terms; research students should not assume that fees or funding follow the same arrangements as another master's route.

Careers & Outcomes

Q. Does a thesis-based MSc help me get into a PhD?

A completed master's thesis can demonstrate research preparation and support a PhD application. Admission still depends on academic results, the proposed project, supervisory fit and the receiving university's requirements. A thesis does not guarantee admission, but it can give you experience of the research planning and critical writing expected at doctoral level.

Category 5 - PhD Programmes

Applies to all 7 PhD programmes: Business Management · Marketing · Management Information Systems · Psychology · Educational Administration · Law · Tourism & Hospitality.

General Information

Q. Which PhD programmes does Girne American University offer?

The supplied GAU portfolio lists seven PhD subjects: Business Management, Marketing, Management Information Systems, Psychology, Educational Administration, Law, and Tourism and Hospitality. Confirm the current programme title, language, supervisor availability and entry requirements for your intended research area before applying.

Q. Can I pursue a GAU PhD while continuing to work?

Working alongside a PhD depends on the approved registration and attendance model. Discuss your work schedule, research plan and any residence or in-person requirements before accepting a place. Part-time or flexible arrangements must be confirmed for the specific programme; a research-led timetable is not automatically free of attendance commitments.

Q. How long does a PhD at GAU take?

PhD duration is governed by the programme's registration rules as well as research progress. Ask for the minimum, expected and maximum periods, including coursework, research, thesis examination and any corrections. Your supervisor and admissions team can help establish a realistic plan once the available route and research proposal are clear.

Eligibility & Admission

Q. What are the entry requirements for the PhD programmes?

Doctoral applicants typically need:

- A recognised master's degree in a relevant field
- A research proposal outlining your intended study area
- A CV and academic reference letters
- Evidence of English proficiency at doctoral level

Final eligibility is confirmed through an individual admissions review, which may include a discussion of your research plans.

Fees, Scholarships & Payments

Q. How are PhD fees structured?

Request a doctoral fee schedule covering the full expected registration period. Confirm the currency, supervision and assessment costs, available payment arrangements, and what happens financially if research takes longer. Any fee-support offer should be recorded with its eligibility and continuation conditions; a nominal duration is not a guarantee of a fixed total research cost.

Careers & Outcomes

Q. What can a PhD from GAU lead to?

A PhD can develop advanced research and subject expertise relevant to academic, policy, consulting or specialist professional work. Access to particular roles depends on your research record, experience and the employer's requirements. In regulated fields, professional licensing may be separate; a research doctorate should not be described as automatic permission to practise.

Applying & Practical Information

Practical information to check before applying.

Q. How does the GAU eligibility review work?

An eligibility review compares your academic qualifications, professional background and goals with the programme's entry criteria. Ask what documents are needed, whether there is a review fee and who makes the final admission decision. The review can clarify suitable routes, but does not itself guarantee admission, a scholarship or an offer.

Q. Do my documents need to be translated or attested?

Documents not issued in the accepted application language may need official translations.

Certification, attestation or other authentication requirements depend on the university's instructions and the document type. Ask for the current checklist and accepted translator or certification format before paying for services; not every application needs the same authentication process.

Q. How can an employer or institution verify my GAU degree?

Ask GAU for its current official award-verification process and provide the employer or receiving institution with the required details. They may need your consent to check your academic record. A certificate and transcript identify the award, but their appearance alone is not verification; use the university's authorised channel.

Q. How do GAU scholarships actually work?

Scholarships depend on the programme, intake and the eligibility terms of the award. Ask whether a separate application is required, what evidence is assessed, when a decision is made and how any reduction affects your fee schedule. Do not assume that starting an eligibility review secures funding or that all programmes use one scholarship process.

Q. What support will I get as a distance learner at GAU?

Confirm the support included in your particular distance-learning offer. Useful items to check are access to tutors and learning materials, assessment guidance, progress support, technical help and any careers or graduation services. Ask who provides each service and how to contact them; support described for one programme should not be promised across the entire portfolio.

Immigration & Visa Eligibility

Q. Does completing a Girne American University programme make me eligible to migrate to the US or UK?

Completing a GAU programme does not, by itself, establish US or UK immigration eligibility. A graduate may qualify for a visa or permanent residence through an applicable route, but must meet that route's conditions. Any required assessment must relate to the exact qualification; academic recognition or a study-transfer arrangement is not immigration permission.

For the UK, sponsored work and the Graduate route have different requirements; the latter requires eligible study, the relevant Student permission and compliance with UK-study requirements. For the US, work and residence routes require their own evidence, while Optional Practical Training (OPT) is linked to F-1 status and qualifying study. An overseas or online programme alone does not establish these post-study work entitlements.

Before relying on a programme for migration plans, have the current route requirements, award details and your individual circumstances reviewed by an appropriately qualified immigration adviser.

Immigration and residency decisions rest solely with the relevant authorities. This information is general guidance, not immigration advice.

Fee amounts, scholarships and entry requirements are confirmed individually during the admissions eligibility review and may change without notice.

University of the West of Scotland (UWS)

1 category sets + practical guide - Global Business (exact award subject to confirmation) | 12 FAQs | 1 programmes covered

About: The University of the West of Scotland (UWS) lists a BA Global Business partner-delivered route. Confirm the precise award title, any honours designation and delivery arrangements for the programme in your offer.

Category 1 - Global Business Degree

General Information

Q. What is the Global Business degree from UWS?

Global Business is an undergraduate business degree route associated with UWS. The university's published partner list identifies BA Global Business; the exact award title and any honours designation must be checked for the offer you receive. Study focuses on international business, strategy and related analytical skills rather than an automatic professional licence.

Q. Is this a top-up degree, and what does that mean?

A published UWS partner route offers BA Global Business as a top-up degree. A top-up builds on prior learning that the university accepts, with further study required to complete the award. Confirm that this is the route in your offer and check the exact award title, entry credits and remaining modules before enrolling.

Q. How long does the Global Business degree take to complete?

A published UWS partner's Global Business top-up is described as 12 months of study. That timetable should not be assumed to apply to every route or to an honours award. Ask admissions to confirm the exact degree title, accepted prior learning, remaining study and completion schedule in Maverick's current offer.

Q. Can I study the programme online while working?

Online study is advertised for a published UWS Global Business partner route. Whether it fits your job depends on the actual teaching schedule, attendance rules and assessment workload. Confirm that Maverick's offer uses that delivery arrangement, and check session times and examination requirements before committing to a work-and-study plan.

Q. Is a degree from the University of the West of Scotland recognised?

UWS is an established university that awards degrees, including programmes delivered through listed academic partners. Acceptance for employment, professional purposes or further study depends on the exact qualification and the receiving organisation's rules. Check the approved partner, degree title and any purpose-specific requirements rather than assuming universal recognition.

Eligibility & Admission

Q. What are the entry requirements for the Global Business degree?

Top-up entry depends on the prior learning accepted for the specific programme. Relevant diplomas, professional qualifications and documented experience may be assessed, but experience alone should not be treated as guaranteed final-stage entry. Submit your transcripts and qualification details so admissions can confirm eligibility, any credit recognition and the remaining study required.

Fees, Scholarships & Payments

Q. How are the fees structured for this programme?

Request a written quotation for the confirmed Global Business route and intake. Check tuition, registration and any assessment charges, the billing currency and whether instalments are available. If credit recognition changes the study required, ask how that affects fees. Any scholarship or fee reduction must be confirmed in the offer.

Careers & Outcomes

Q. What can I do after completing the Global Business degree?

Global business study can build skills relevant to business development, international operations, marketing and management-related work. Your opportunities depend on experience, demonstrated skills and employer requirements, not the degree title alone. For progression or promotion, check whether the intended organisation requires a particular award level or honours designation before choosing your route.

Q. Can I progress to a master's or MBA after this degree?

Postgraduate progression depends on the completed award and the receiving programme's entry rules. Some master's or MBA routes require an honours degree, particular results or work experience. Because the exact Global Business award must be confirmed, check its acceptance with your intended postgraduate institution rather than assuming automatic eligibility from the top-up label.

Applying & Practical Information

Practical information to check before applying.

Q. Can I turn my work experience into a degree?

Relevant experience may support an assessment of prior learning, but it is not itself a degree. A university must approve any credit or entry recognition, and you must still complete the remaining academic and assessment requirements. Ask for a written decision on how your qualifications and experience fit the specific Global Business route.

Q. What will my final certificate say?

The certificate must carry the exact award conferred by the university. Ask for confirmation of the degree title, honours status and any partner or delivery wording before enrolling. A top-up describes how you enter a programme; it does not, on its own, establish what will be printed on the final certificate.

Q. How many hours a week will I need to study?

Plan for consistent weekly study alongside your job - setting aside regular study slots can help you manage reading, assignments and revision. The exact guided-hours expectation for your intake is confirmed by the admissions team, so you can agree a realistic routine before you start.

Fee amounts, scholarships and entry requirements are confirmed individually during the admissions eligibility review and may change without notice.

University for the Creative Arts (UCA)

1 category sets + practical guide - Global MBA (linked award pathway) | 12 FAQs | 1 programmes covered

About: The University for the Creative Arts (UCA) is an established university. Rushford's published Global MBA pathway describes linked MBA awards from UCA and Rushford, subject to the current programme and awarding requirements.

Category 1 - Global MBA (Dual Award with Rushford Business School)

General Information

Q. What is the Global MBA offered through UCA and Rushford Business School?

Rushford describes this online Global MBA as a three-award pathway: an MBA from the University for the Creative Arts, an MBA from Rushford Business School, and an Ofqual-regulated Level 7 diploma. Each award depends on completing its requirements. Confirm the current delivery and awarding arrangements, including the named diploma, before accepting an offer.

Q. What does a "dual MBA award" actually mean, and why does it matter?

A dual MBA award means two separate qualifications are awarded through a linked study pathway, subject to each institution's requirements. This can offer different academic perspectives and two institutional records of achievement. It does not automatically double the academic credit or guarantee wider recognition; each employer or receiving institution assesses the qualifications for its own purpose.

Q. How long does the Global MBA take, and how many credits is it worth?

Rushford's programme page describes a 12-18-month pathway carrying 90 ECTS. Confirm the schedule and credit framework in your current offer, including the taught stage, thesis stage and any transfer conditions. These figures describe the published pathway, not a guarantee that every student completes both awards within the same period.

Q. Is the Global MBA delivered fully online?

Rushford advertises this Global MBA pathway as fully online. Check the current teaching schedule, live-session expectations, assessment arrangements and weekly workload before enrolling. Online delivery can help working professionals organise their study, but does not remove academic deadlines or the requirements of the thesis and awarding stages.

Q. How is the Global MBA structured?

The programme runs in two stages: a taught stage covering strategic management, leadership, planning and decision-making, followed by a master's thesis stage completed under the awarding university's framework. This structure means you finish with both applied coursework and a substantial piece of master's-level research.

Eligibility & Admission

Q. What are the entry requirements for the Global MBA?

Rushford's current programme page lists a bachelor's degree in any discipline as an entry route. Admissions must confirm the accepted qualification, supporting documents and any English-language evidence for your profile. Requirements from a differently delivered MBA should not be substituted for this pathway's current terms, and acceptance remains an individual decision.

Fees, Scholarships & Payments

Q. What does the Global MBA cost, and can I pay in instalments?

Request a current written quotation for the complete Global MBA pathway. Check which awards and stages are included, the billing currency, any deposits or additional charges, and whether instalments are offered. Compare the total instalment cost with the upfront price. Historical portal figures should not be used as a current fee offer.

Careers & Outcomes

Q. What career advantage does the Global MBA give?

The Global MBA can develop strategic management, leadership and research skills relevant to business roles. Its linked awards may be useful when presenting your academic background, but employers assess each qualification alongside experience and demonstrated capability. A dual award does not itself guarantee promotion, a senior role or acceptance in every professional setting.

Q. Can I continue to a doctorate after the Global MBA?

A completed MBA can support an application to PhD or DBA study, subject to the receiving institution's entry criteria. Research preparation, academic results, professional experience and the proposed topic may all be assessed. Check that the exact award and thesis component meet your intended doctoral route rather than assuming that the linked pathway provides automatic entry.

Applying & Practical Information

Practical information to check before applying.

Q. Do I receive two separate MBA certificates?

The published pathway describes separate MBA awards from UCA and Rushford, alongside a Level 7 diploma. Certificate issue depends on completing the relevant assessments and meeting each awarding body's conditions. Confirm the precise titles, issuing bodies, timing and verification arrangements; separate certificates do not imply automatic acceptance for every employment or further-study purpose.

Q. Can my employer sponsor my Global MBA?

Employer sponsorship depends on your employer's policy and the programme's billing arrangements. Ask whether direct invoicing, a sponsorship letter or staged payments can be supported. For an internal proposal, use the confirmed fee total, study schedule and skills relevant to your role. Do not commit to funding arrangements before both parties have agreed them.

Q. What support will I get during the master's thesis stage?

Ask for the thesis-stage supervision and support arrangements before accepting your offer. These should explain how topics are approved, who supervises the work, what feedback is available and how research is assessed. The published pathway includes a master's thesis, but the frequency of contact and responsibilities of each institution need route-specific confirmation.

Fee amounts, scholarships and entry requirements are confirmed individually during the admissions eligibility review and may change without notice.

University of Wolverhampton (UOW)

1 category sets + practical guide - Master of Laws (route subject to confirmation) | 12 FAQs | 1 programmes covered

About: The University of Wolverhampton (UOW) offers Master of Laws (LLM) study. Exact entry requirements, delivery mode and any top-up arrangement depend on the programme route confirmed in the student's offer.

Category 1 - Master of Laws (LLM)

General Information

Q. What is the Master of Laws (LLM) from the University of Wolverhampton?

The Master of Laws (LLM) is a postgraduate law qualification awarded by the University of Wolverhampton. It develops legal analysis, research and critical argument. The university offers different LLM routes; confirm the exact title, entry conditions and delivery mode of Maverick's offer rather than assuming all routes use the same online or top-up structure.

Q. How does the LLM top-up route work?

An LLM top-up recognises approved prior legal study and requires completion of the remaining master's work. Admission is based on qualifications accepted for that particular route, not simply any diploma labelled Level 7. Confirm the named feeder qualifications, credit recognition, remaining assessments and duration before treating a diploma as a route to this LLM.

Q. Can I do the LLM without a traditional law degree?

Some LLM routes consider non-standard applicants with significant relevant experience. The university's standard LLM Law page allows an individual review of such applicants, but this does not mean the same entry policy applies to every top-up or partner route. Submit your qualifications and professional background for a route-specific assessment before assuming eligibility.

Q. Can I complete the LLM while working?

This depends on the LLM route and its attendance and workload requirements. The university advertises different full-time, part-time and distance-learning arrangements across its law portfolio. Confirm which applies to your offer, including session times, research deadlines and any in-person requirements, before planning study around legal or compliance work.

Q. Is a degree from the University of Wolverhampton recognised?

The University of Wolverhampton is an established university awarding postgraduate law degrees. Acceptance of a particular qualification depends on the receiving employer, institution or professional regulator. Confirm the exact programme and partner arrangement, and check requirements for your intended purpose. An academic LLM is not, by itself, a licence to practise law.

Eligibility & Admission

Q. What are the entry requirements for the LLM?

Entry requirements depend on the exact LLM programme. A standard academic route may require a law or joint-law degree, while a professional top-up may require specified professional legal qualifications. Non-standard admission and English-language exemptions are assessed under the relevant route's rules. Obtain the current checklist; a generic Level 7 diploma is not automatically sufficient.

Fees, Scholarships & Payments

Q. How are the LLM fees structured?

Use the written fee quotation for the specific LLM route and intake. Check the billing currency, tuition, research or assessment charges where applicable, and available payment arrangements. If prior study is accepted for a top-up, confirm the fee for the remaining stage. Scholarships or instalments should not be assumed without an offer.

Careers & Outcomes

Q. What career opportunities can the LLM support?

The LLM strengthens careers across legal practice support, corporate counsel teams, compliance, regulatory affairs, contracts, arbitration support, policy and academia. For practising professionals, it signals master's-level expertise; for career-changers, it opens law-adjacent roles where advanced legal knowledge is valued.

Please note: the LLM is an academic qualification. Rights to practise law are governed by the professional regulatory body in each jurisdiction and are not conferred by the degree itself.

Q. Can I progress to doctoral study after the LLM?

An LLM can support an application to doctoral research in law or a related field. Admission depends on the receiving university's criteria, academic results, research proposal and supervisory fit. A research component may provide useful preparation, but completion of the master's degree does not automatically secure a PhD place or satisfy every doctoral entry route.

Applying & Practical Information

Practical information to check before applying.

Q. Which professionals benefit most from an LLM?

An LLM may be useful for legal practitioners and professionals in compliance, contracts, regulation, risk or policy whose work benefits from advanced legal analysis. Its relevance depends on the curriculum and your career goals. Check entry criteria and any separate professional requirements; an academic qualification does not automatically convert experience into a practising entitlement or a senior role.

Q. What is the independent legal research project like?

A legal research project normally involves a focused legal question, critical analysis of relevant sources and a reasoned written argument. The university's LLM Law includes a research project, but scope, supervision and assessment depend on the route. Ask for the current handbook, topic-approval process and any ethics requirements for the offer you intend to take.

Q. Should I take the LLM straight after my degree, or work first?

Both routes work - they simply produce different advantages. Coming straight from study, you carry momentum and research sharpness into the LLM. Coming from practice, your professional context makes every module and the research project immediately applicable. The admissions review considers your profile either way, so the honest answer is: start when the qualification serves your next career move.

Fee amounts, scholarships and entry requirements are confirmed individually during the admissions eligibility review and may change without notice.

Gatehouse Level 7 Diplomas

1 category sets + practical guide - Level 7 Diplomas (4 supplied subjects) | 12 FAQs | 4 programmes covered

About: The supplied Gatehouse portfolio covers four postgraduate-level diploma subjects. Check each qualification's regulatory record, entry conditions and study requirements; a Level 7 diploma is not a full master's degree.

Category 1 - Level 7 Diplomas

Applies to all 4 diplomas: Strategic Leadership & Management · Educational Leadership & Management · Psychology · Strategic Project Management in Construction.

General Information

Q. Which Gatehouse Level 7 Diplomas are available?

The supplied portfolio lists four Level 7 diploma subjects:

- Strategic Leadership and Management
- Educational Leadership and Management
- Psychology
- Strategic Project Management in Construction

Confirm each qualification's exact awarding title, current availability and regulatory listing before enrolling. Subject labels alone do not establish that all four diplomas share the same credits, assessment method or delivery arrangements.

Q. What is a Level 7 Diploma - is it really master's level?

Level 7 describes postgraduate-level learning, at the framework level associated with master's study. A Level 7 diploma is not itself a full master's degree. Check the qualification's exact regulatory listing, credit volume and learning outcomes. An awarding organisation's recognition does not mean every course bearing its name has the same regulatory status. Gatehouse Awards is an Ofqual-recognised awarding organisation, but the status of each chosen diploma must still be checked.

Q. What is the difference between a Level 7 Diploma and a full master's degree?

A Level 7 diploma and a master's degree can sit at the same learning level but differ in size, content and award requirements. Some master's top-ups recognise diploma study, but the receiving university decides what credit to accept and what further work is needed. Neither a standard credit conversion nor a dissertation-only progression route should be assumed.

Feature	Level 7 diploma	Full master's degree
Award	Diploma	Master's degree
Credit volume	Defined by the qualification specification	Defined by the degree and its credit framework
Research or project work	May be included; check the specification	Depends on the degree; may include a dissertation or project
Further study	Credit recognition may be available	Doctoral entry depends on the receiving programme

Q. How long does a Level 7 Diploma take, and how is it assessed?

Duration and assessment depend on the selected diploma and delivery centre. Ask for the scheduled study period, guided and independent learning expectations, and the assessment methods in the official specification. Coursework or portfolio evidence may be used, but an assessment pattern confirmed for one track must not be applied to all four diplomas.

Q. Can I study a Level 7 Diploma online while working full-time?

This depends on the approved delivery arrangements and your available study time. Check whether the diploma is online or blended, whether sessions require live attendance, and what workplace evidence or practical activity is needed. A flexible timetable may help, but it does not remove assessment deadlines or guarantee that every track is self-paced.

Eligibility & Admission

Q. What are the entry requirements for a Level 7 Diploma?

Entry is typically open to holders of a bachelor's degree or equivalent qualification, and applicants with substantial relevant professional experience may also be considered - Level 7 study values workplace seniority alongside academic history. Eligibility is confirmed individually by the admissions team.

Fees, Scholarships & Payments

Q. How are the fees structured for the Level 7 Diplomas?

Request a quotation for the exact diploma and intake. Check tuition, awarding-body registration and assessment charges where applicable, the currency and any costs for resubmission or extended study. If instalments or fee support are offered, ask for the conditions and total payable. Different diplomas need not have identical fee arrangements.

Careers & Outcomes

Q. Can a Level 7 Diploma lead to a full master's degree?

A Level 7 diploma may support entry or credit recognition towards a master's degree. The receiving university decides whether the subject, credits and learning outcomes meet its requirements. Ask for a confirmed progression agreement and the remaining study needed for your intended master's; completion of a diploma is not automatic admission or a guaranteed dissertation-only top-up.

Q. What career impact can a Level 7 Diploma have?

A Level 7 diploma can develop advanced knowledge and applied skills relevant to your chosen field. It may support professional development, a promotion case or further-study applications, depending on the employer's or institution's criteria. Qualification level alone does not guarantee a senior appointment, and regulated professional roles may require separate training or registration.

Applying & Practical Information

Practical information to check before applying.

Q. How does portfolio-of-evidence assessment actually work?

Where portfolio assessment is specified, you submit evidence against defined learning outcomes. Evidence may include assignments, projects, reflective writing or approved workplace tasks. An assessor reviews whether it meets the qualification criteria; ordinary work experience is not automatically sufficient. Ask which evidence types, authenticity checks and submission rules apply to your diploma.

Q. How does a Level 7 Diploma compare with short courses and certificates?

Compare learning level, assessed outcomes, study volume and regulatory status, not just the length or title of a course. Short courses and CPD can develop useful specialist skills, and some include assessment. A regulated Level 7 diploma has defined postgraduate-level outcomes and a regulatory record, but that status must be checked for the exact qualification.

Q. Is there an ideal career stage for Level 7 study?

Level 7 study often suits graduates and experienced professionals ready for advanced learning. The right point depends on your prior knowledge, the subject and the qualification's entry criteria, including any minimum age or experience requirements. Check these for the chosen diploma rather than assuming one track's entry policy applies to every applicant or subject.

Fee amounts, scholarships and entry requirements are confirmed individually during the admissions eligibility review and may change without notice.

Qualifi Diplomas

3 category sets + practical guide - Level 3 | Level 5 Extended | Level 7 | 22 FAQs | 45 programmes covered

About: The supplied Qualifi portfolio covers Level 3, Level 5 Extended and Level 7 diplomas. Each qualification has its own entry and progression requirements; a level sequence is a study-planning guide, not automatic admission to the next award.

Category 1 - Level 3 Diplomas

Applies to all 8 diplomas: Business Management · Introduction to Management · Integrated Business and Management · Business Innovation and Entrepreneurship · Health and Social Care · Hospitality and Tourism Management · Accounting and Finance · Information Technology.

General Information

Q. Which Qualifi Level 3 Diplomas are available?

Eight Level 3 Diplomas are offered across business, management, entrepreneurship, health and social care, hospitality and tourism, accounting and finance, and information technology - giving you a foundation-level entry point into whichever career direction you choose.

Q. Is Qualifi a recognised awarding organisation?

Qualifi is an Ofqual-recognised awarding organisation. Its regulated qualifications have individual records and qualification numbers, so check the exact diploma title and current regulatory status rather than relying on the organisation's name alone. Regulation establishes qualification standards; it does not guarantee acceptance by every employer, professional body or receiving university.

Q. What is a Level 3 Diploma, and who is it for?

A Level 3 Diploma is a foundation-level qualification - the stage that prepares you for higher-level study or your first professional roles. It suits school-leavers, career starters and career changers who want a structured, recognised entry point into a field without committing to a full degree straight away.

Eligibility & Admission

Q. What do I need to enrol in a Level 3 Diploma?

Level 3 entry requirements depend on the subject and qualification specification. The centre assesses whether your educational background and English-language ability prepare you for the course, along with any minimum age or other conditions. Ask for the current entry checklist rather than assuming that every foundation-level diploma has open entry.

Fees, Scholarships & Payments

Q. How much does a Level 3 Diploma cost to study?

Ask for the full cost of the Level 3 diploma you choose. The quotation should state the currency, tuition and any registration, assessment or certification charges. If a payment plan or fee reduction is offered, check its conditions and total cost. Entry-level study does not mean that all subjects have the same fee or funding arrangements.

Careers & Outcomes

Q. What can I progress to after a Level 3 Diploma?

A Level 3 diploma may support entry-level work or progression to higher study in a related field. The next qualification depends on subject fit and its entry criteria; Level 4 study may form part of an Extended Level 5 route. Ask for an agreed pathway rather than assuming that every Level 3 award gives automatic admission to Level 5.

Category 2 - Level 5 Extended Diplomas

Applies to all 14 diplomas: Business Management · Health and Social Care · Psychology · Hospitality and Tourism Management · Accounting and Finance · Law · Information Technology · IT - Networking · IT - Web Design · IT - E-commerce · Cyber Security · Networking and Cyber Security · Occupational Health and Safety · Education and Training Management.

General Information

Q. Which Level 5 Extended Diplomas can I choose from?

The supplied portfolio lists fourteen Level 5 Extended Diplomas, covering business, health and social care, psychology, hospitality and tourism, accounting, law, information technology and its specialist tracks, cyber security, occupational health and safety, and education and training management. Match your intended subject to the current qualification title and specification before applying.

Q. What does "Extended Diploma" mean at Level 5?

An Extended Diploma combines a larger body of study than a standard diploma at the same level, commonly bringing together Level 4 and Level 5 learning. Published Qualifi specifications include 240-credit routes. Check the exact diploma's credit structure; study volume alone does not establish automatic equivalence to two university years or guarantee credit transfer.

Q. Which level should I start at - Level 3 or Level 5?

Choose the level that matches your existing qualifications and subject preparation. Level 3 can provide a foundation for further study, while an Extended Level 5 route normally includes higher-level learning across Levels 4 and 5. Ask admissions to assess your background against the chosen qualification's criteria; experience does not replace formal prerequisites unless that route permits it.

Eligibility & Admission

Q. What are the entry requirements for a Level 5 Extended Diploma?

Entry is assessed against the chosen diploma's published requirements. These may include prior Level 3 or Level 4 qualifications, relevant experience, subject preparation and English-language evidence. An Extended route may contain both levels of study, so confirm where you enter and what you must complete; technical subjects can have different prerequisites from business routes.

Fees, Scholarships & Payments

Q. What is the fee structure for a Level 5 Extended Diploma?

Request a quotation covering the entire Extended Diploma route, not just one stage. Check which units or levels are included, the currency, registration and assessment fees, and any available instalment schedule. The credit structure and commercial terms should both be confirmed before you compare this route with a diploma or degree elsewhere.

Careers & Outcomes

Q. Can a Level 5 Extended Diploma lead to a bachelor's degree?

A Level 5 Extended Diploma may support entry to a bachelor's top-up, and Qualifi publishes degree-progression opportunities for several routes. The receiving university must accept the exact subject, credits and learning outcomes. Confirm the named degree, entry stage and remaining study in writing; holding 240 credits does not automatically guarantee final-year admission everywhere.

Category 3 - Level 7 Diplomas

Applies to all 23 diplomas: Business Strategy · Ethical Leadership · Executive Management · Strategic Management and Innovation · Strategic Management and Leadership · Project Management · Risk Management · Strategic Marketing · Health and Social Care · Psychology · Occupational Health and Safety Management · International Diploma in Occupational Health and Safety Management · International Diploma in Process Safety Management · Hospitality and Tourism Management · Human Resource Management · Accounting and Finance · Law · International Business Law · IT · Data Science · Cyber Security · Logistics and Supply Chain Crisis Management · Educational Management and Leadership.

General Information

Q. Which specialisations do the Qualifi Level 7 Diplomas cover?

The supplied portfolio includes twenty-three Level 7 diploma subjects across strategy, leadership, projects, risk, marketing, human resources, finance, law, psychology, health and safety, hospitality, technology, data science, cyber security, supply chain and education management. Compare the exact qualification specifications and entry criteria; sharing a level does not make the subjects or progression routes interchangeable.

Q. Who are the Qualifi Level 7 Diplomas designed for?

They are built for graduates and experienced professionals who want postgraduate-level certification focused on applied, workplace-ready capability - managers formalising their experience, specialists stepping up to strategic roles, and professionals preparing a bridge towards a full master's qualification.

Eligibility & Admission

Q. Do I need a degree to enrol in a Qualifi Level 7 Diploma?

A degree is not the only possible entry route for every diploma, but alternatives must be permitted by the specific qualification. Some routes consider relevant professional experience or other prior study; others require particular academic or subject preparation. Ask admissions to assess the exact diploma criteria rather than assuming a portfolio-wide experience exemption.

Q. How long do the Level 7 Diplomas take, and how are they assessed?

Study duration and assessment depend on the diploma and approved delivery plan. Ask for the expected timetable, guided and independent study hours, assessment methods and submission deadlines. Assignment-based study may be available, but it should not be assumed that every Level 7 track is self-paced, examination-free or completed within a single short timetable.

Fees, Scholarships & Payments

Q. How are Level 7 Diploma fees structured?

Level 7 fees can differ by subject, route and intake. Ask for the tuition total, billing currency and any awarding, assessment or additional study charges. If instalments or fee support are offered, compare the total payable and conditions. Programmes at the same qualification level need not have identical prices or payment arrangements.

Careers & Outcomes

Q. What can I progress to after a Qualifi Level 7 Diploma?

A Level 7 diploma may support further professional development or a master's application, depending on the subject and receiving institution. Management and law diplomas can have different progression arrangements, and the remaining study is not always limited to a dissertation. Confirm the exact receiving award and accepted credits before planning an MBA, LLM or other master's top-up.

Q. What career impact can a Qualifi Level 7 Diploma have?

A Qualifi Level 7 diploma can develop advanced subject knowledge and applied skills relevant to your professional field. It may strengthen evidence for a development or promotion discussion, but employers also assess experience and performance. A diploma does not automatically confer seniority, professional registration or a guaranteed career outcome.

Applying & Practical Information

Practical information to check before applying.

Q. Can I stack Qualifi diplomas over time - Level 3, then 5, then 7?

You can plan further qualifications over time, but progression is not automatic. Each completed diploma is an award in its own right. Entry to the next level depends on its subject and requirements; additional Level 4, degree-level study or experience may be needed. Map the complete route before enrolling rather than assuming a direct Level 3-to-5-to-7 ladder.

Q. Do Qualifi diplomas expire or need renewing?

An academic diploma normally remains a record of completed study, rather than a membership that requires annual renewal. A qualification being withdrawn from new registrations does not, by itself, erase an achieved award. Receiving institutions or professional bodies may nevertheless require recent knowledge or continuing development; check any such rules for your intended use.

Q. Will my certificate show the official accreditation number?

Regulated Qualifi diplomas have an official qualification number that identifies the award in the qualifications register. Ask how it appears on your certificate or supporting documents. The number identifies the qualification, not whether an individual certificate is genuine; employers or institutions should use the awarding body's authorised verification process when checking a personal award.

Fee amounts, scholarships and entry requirements are confirmed individually during the admissions eligibility review and may change without notice.
